Dear Gig goer....

Well what can I say.... The Autumn season is here and it's a BIG ONE as we celebrate 20 years of promoting live music at the Flowerpot. As you can see we celebrate this with a special issue of our booklet and a season that is packed full of musical highlights. The first gig at the Flowerpot was in October 1995 and 20 years on , we recognise this with a week of exceptional live music and a beer festival at the Flowerpot running from Wednesday 14th to Sunday 18th October. Recollections of the past 20 years are included in the booklet and the future also looks very bright with a season full of variety and high quality. We continue to welcome top artistes to the venue each year and 2015 is no exception. The mighty Big Country play in November as well as the first time visit of Mod/ Soul favourites Secret Affair. Toyah returns this time with her full electric band playing all the hits. We have lots of blues to look forward to as well. Samantha Fish and Laurence Jones arrive in November for a double bill which is sure to delight all fans of rocky blues. Favourites including Dr Feelgood, Aynsley Lister, Nine Below Zero, Danny Bryant, Eddie & The Hot Rods and Chantel McGregor to name but a few all return this autumn. A special mention must go to The Nimmo Brothers who as well as RAW Promo, celebrate 20 years performing on the road. A big favourite of ours over the years and it's great to welcome them back on the last date of their tour. Top rock bands in the shape of Pat Travers, Wishbone Ash, Focus and the awesome Skinny Molly return.... China Crisis are back with a new album and play the Pot as part of their new album tour. The Beat were sensational on their last visit as were Dreadzone. Both are back this autumn. Our selection of tribute bands are probably the best you could ever wish for. Debuts from top Kate Bush tribute Cloudbusting and a rousing set from the brilliant Legends of AOR are amongst a stellar line up of top tribute bands including Fleetwood Bac, Fred Zeppelin, Too Rex, A Foreigners Journey, U2UK, AC/DC UK, Bon Giovi, Jean Genie and many many more. The air conditioning has been updated and improved during the summer months to hopefully give extra comfort for those really busy nights at the Flowerpot. The autumn season is always an exciting and vibrant time of the year and this year is no exception. As always, thanks for your incredible support - Enjoy the gigs.

Celebrating 20 years of LIVE MUSIC (1995 - 2015)

A brief look back at the last 20 years

Derby Evening Telegraph - Tuesday 10th October 1995

14th October 1995 and The Rattlers are about to go on stage at the first ever gig at The Flowerpot, Derby. A sell out gig and the start of a musical journey that reaches its 20th anniversary in October 2015. A lot has happened in the last 20 years. Here's a very brief recollection.....

Before the Flowerpot opened its doors as a live venue in 1995, RAW Promotions was putting on some roots gigs in Derby at venues including The Lord Nelson and The Dial. The Dial at the time was responsible for introducing such bands as Stone Roses, Nirvana, Primal Scream, The Levellers to the city and was at the time the leading mid sized venue in the city. RAW was currently putting on some gigs at the Brunswick which at the time was being run by John Evans and Trevor Harris. The Brunswick had been recently refurbished and was recognised as one of Derby's best real ale pubs. At the time we were booking top roots artistes including Jake Thackray, Ron Kavana and Martyn Joseph. John then left the Brunswick and bought a small rather run down pub called The Flowerpot. After renovating the pub side, John phoned up and asked if we would be interested in promoting live music at the pub. This came about as he had also bought the tyre depot which was right next door to the pub. It was only a shell at the time but the response was a resounding YES....

The tyre depot was transformed in to the first design of the venue. The stage was opposite to where it is now and was only 6 inches high due to the height restrictions. There was a pillar centre stage as well but the vibe of having a 250 capacity venue selling quality real ales was felt by everybody who went to the early gigs.

The idea at first was to continue the rootsy feel of the Brunswick gigs and start a regular live series of gigs called The Great Derby Saturday Stomp. This proved successful but it soon became evident that the venue was potentially capable of putting on "Bigger" gigs. The first non rootsy gig soon came along and China Crisis were booked to play on 26th November 1995. A massively popular gig it proved to be and it proved the The Flowerpot had the right credentials to be a top venue. 1996 built on this initial interest and the gigs became even more varied including the first of many visits to the Flowerpot by John Otway. The third year though was to really show the potential of the venue with visits by internationally renowned stars that included John Martyn and Nils Lofgren. To this day people remember the sight of Nils Lofgren with his brother on the small corner stage. Also the sight of John Martyn tripping on to the stage from the adjacent dressing room to play an immaculate two and a half hour set.

1997 was also the year that our current soundman/engineer Sid was to take over the control of the PA. It's a working relationship that to this day is still going strong. Sid is now recognised as a top engineer and is consistently being praised for his work by the artistes that play the Pot. Because all the gigs are different, not just musically but personnel as well, a sound engineer has to be able to adapt to the needs of bands in many different ways. Patience and an in depth knowledge of equipment and sound is needed and thankfully Sid still has these in abundance still in 2015.

Joe Bonamassa poster - 2005

2001 and the decision was made to move the stage to the opposite side of the room giving far better viewing for the audience. It also led to some big names playing the venue in that year including Steve Harley, John Wetton, Roger Chapman and Al Stewart. There was also a lot more blues included in the line up so the likes of Wilko Johnson, Nine Below Zero and Dr Feelgood would be making their first appearances at the Pot.

As the reputation of the venue began to grow it was evident that performers who were making their first UK tour would want to play the Flowerpot. 2005 for example and a certain Joe Bonamassa decided to play the Flowerpot as part of his first ever European tour. £8 for a ticket may seem fairly cheap to see this blues genius but for a first journey in to Europe, playing to a crowd just short of 200, it was a bargain!! Like wise when Walter Trout decided to play as a power trio for the first time ever, The Flowerpot was regarded highly enough for him to include a date. Indeed the blues gigs were gathering pace and Danny Bryant decided to record his performance in September 2006 for a live album release the following year. You can hear my rather nervous introduction from the stage on the CD. Many other bands have recorded their sets at the venue including Oli Brown who included a track on his album recorded at the Pot.

In order for a venue to survive and maintain the level of gigs, it also has to keep developing as a venue. In this case, thankfully the Flowerpot has always recognised this and is continually looking for ways to improve and develop. The lighting on the stage was proving to be extremely hot for the performers with the old par cans. With this in mind new lights were installed which don't give off any heat. Right up to date (2015) and the air conditioning was improved. Also the front of the Flowerpot has been tastefully renovated and of course, the beer continues to draw people to the place with a vast selection to choose from every day of the week.

I'm certain there is a book to be written about the many memories that spring to mind of gigs over the last 20 years. Having a beer with Fish in the beer garden on a sunny weekday afternoon prior to his sell out gig that evening. Midge Ure singing "Vienna" in all its glory. Michael Schenker playing his heart out to a packed crowd. Glenn Tilbrook leading everybody out of the venue to play them two acoustic songs outside the car park over the road. The Australian Pink Floyd Show wondering how on earth they were going to put up all of their lighting rig (They did manage it!!). Seeing Beth Hart and Joe Bonamassa both play the Flowerpot before becoming the superstars they are now. The challenge of not only booking, but ensuring travelling bands of the stature of Jefferson Starship play the gig and leave having thoroughly enjoying themselves as well (They did!!)

The variety of bands over the last 20 years has been paramount to the venue thriving as it has. With this in mind, we should also mention the many quality tribute bands that have and still do play the venue. For the audience to fully enjoy the experience of a tribute band, the band themselves really do have to be "top notch". So bands such as Limehouse Lizzy, Fleetwood Bac, Fred Zeppelin, Blondied, The Rollin' Stoned, Jean Genie, AC/DC UK, The Smyths, Are You Experienced to name but a few, are all regular performers at the venue because they do such a brilliant job of paying musical tributes to the respective bands. The popularity of the tribute bands is no fluke... It's based on the fact that fans of these bands like to see and hear a show in a venue like the Flowerpot and they know that a good night is pretty much guaranteed listening and watching these quality bands.

So.... Twenty years down the line and we're happy to celebrate and raise a glass to what up to now has been an extraordinary musical journey. It's impossible to mention all the people who over the course of the last 20 years have contributed in some way to the musical legacy. All we will say is that a heart-felt thanks goes out to each and every one of you who over the years have contributed in some way. Of course, perhaps the most important people we must thank are the people who have continued to support the gigs on a regular basis over the last 20 years. 2016 will be the 21st year of music at the Flowerpot and there will be new goals that we need to reach. There is always quality music coming along, new faces, new talent which means that there is always going to be a place for the Flowerpot. Next year already looks exciting with new names to the venue including musical legends such as Andy Fairweather Low. We'll always be looking for those exciting bookings and the up coming names ready to explode on the stage which already has a legacy to be proud of. Keeping live music LIVE.....

BERNIE MARSDEN BAND

At a rough guesstimate Bernie Marsden's name appears on a hundred albums – maybe more. In addition to a long-running solo career the Buckinghamshire-born guitarist has been a recording musician since the early 1970s via membership of such groups as Whitesnake, UFO, Wild Turkey, Babe Ruth, Paice Ashton & Lord, Cozy Powell's Hammer, Alaska, M3 and many more. Though there's a tendency to pigeonhole him as a blues-rock guitarist, each of Marsden's acts had its own individual flavour.

Although Marsden was wary of flooding the credits with too many special guests, 'Shine' does feature some extremely well-known names, from Joe Bonamassa to Whitesnake singer David Coverdale and the Deep Purple duo of Ian Paice (drums) and Don Airey (keyboards). Jimmy Copley of Jeff Beck fame behind the kit and Mark Feltham of Nine Below Zero also supplies some breathtaking harmonica playing.

Shine, the latest album by Bernie Marsden, was released on August 18, 2014 on Provogue!

THE NIMMO BROTHERS

Guitarist siblings Stevie and Alan Nimmo from Glasgow first performed together professionally in the late 1990s and have since gone on to highlight the best in powerhouse British rock and blues. Their material is rooted in the traditions of the British blues boom of the 1960s but includes enough rock elements to keep most blues/rock fans happy.

As anyone who has ever seen the brothers perform live will surely testify; when is it ever not exciting when these two musicians from Glasgow take to the stage in their own inimitable all or nothing fashion? The Nimmo Brothers are quite simply and without doubt the benchmark in modern UK blues - disappointment is most definitely not an option!

wishbone ash

This is the very real beating heart of WISHBONE ASH; alive and thumping; the original twin-guitar band; the band behind classic album 'Argus' and timeless tracks Blowin' Free, Jailbait,

The Pilgrim, Phoenix and many more. Formed in 1969, Wishbone Ash cut their teeth on the US stadium circuit first opening for The Who. Once they began headlining in the States, Wishbone's opening acts included Springsteen, Kiss and Aerosmith. Citing Wishbone Ash as a major influence, Thin Lizzy, Iron Maiden, Southern Rock outfits like Lynyrd Skynyrd and, more recently, heavyweights like Opeth and some of today's guitar-based alt/indie bands have all taken a little something from that legendary twin-guitar approach. Truly, there is no other rock band on the planet that has done more with the twin guitar concept... Andy Powell, Bob Skeat, Muddy Manninen and Joe Crabtree tour the UK so infrequently this is one show you cannot afford to miss.

MIKE ZITO & THE WHEEL

Mike Zito has certainly been a fast-rising star in the blues/roots world for the last five-plus years, and in multiple roles too, including as a performer, songwriter and producer. Co-founder of the acclaimed blues super-group, Royal Southern Brotherhood (RSB), in 2010 the title-track for Mike's "Pearl River" solo debut album (which he co-wrote with Cyril Neville) won the Blues Music Award for "Song of Year."

Shortly thereafter he also produced RUF Records label-mate Samantha Fish's debut CD that garnered BMA honors as "Best New Artist Debut Album." But lately, coincidental with his departure from RSB, Mike has been getting worldwide acclaim for his work as frontman for The Wheel, a hand-picked band Zito formed in 2012 and which includes acclaimed New Orleans saxophonist (and successive individual Blues Music Award nominee) Jimmy Carpenter, bassist Scot Sutherland and drummer Rob Lee. While immediate critical acclaim hailed The Wheel's 2013 debut studio CD, "Gone To Texas," lately the buzz has been even louder for the band's August 2014 "Live From The Road" two-disc set, where Zito's original songs have gained even more depth through road refinement and the band's obvious deepening personal bonds.

BANNED FROM UTOPIA

FRANK ZAPPA'S MUSIC PERFORMED BY HIS ORIGINAL MUSICIANS

Frank Zappa is one of the twentieth century's most important composers. His works of more than 80 albums is by far the most voluminous and versatile of the entire generation rock (encompassing of course jazz as well as avant-garde, contemporary classical and orchestral music!) – even though his untimely death in 1993 left him with only half the time that was allowed to the Dylan-Jagger-Bowie or-Springsteens.

In 2015 Frank Zappa would have turned 75. High time to acknowledge his enormous legacy! And who would be as fit to do so as the incredible musicians he himself had recruited for his band? For this special anniversary a whole bunch of the most popular Zappa collaborators are back to turn the complexity of his compositions from syllabus material at the music academies into blistering experiences in the world's concert venues again. Including Ray White and Bobby Martin, two lead singers who were held in high esteem by the great master for many years. Or Tom Fowler, the man who opened Zappa's door for three brothers before he went on to become Ray Charles last bass player for well over a decade... As Banned From Utopia, referring to Frank Zappa's album "The Man From Utopia", they please the connoisseurs and convert the curious into dedicated fans. Having played on innumerable Mothers/Zappa albums, the musicians of this virtuoso fusion ensemble are performing classics from all eras. Suffused with the authenticity of their deep Zappa history. They can do that on stage still. And there's no way of getting closer to the original!

Ray White – vocals, guitar (Frank Zappa 1976-84) Robert (Bobby) Martin – vocals, keyboard, saxophone, French horn, harmonica (Frank Zappa 1981-88 / Ella Fitzgerald, Etta James, Wilson Pickett, Eric Burdon, Leo Kottke, Prince, Stevie Nicks) Tom Fowler – bass, violin (Frank Zappa 1973-78 / It's A Beautiful Day, Captain Beefheart, Jean-Luc Ponty, Ray Charles, Steve Hackett, Hildegard Knef, Elton John) Albert Wing – sax, flute (Frank Zappa 1988 / Johnny "Guitar" Watson, Diana Ross, Flo & Eddie, Rosanne Cash, Shuggie Otis, George Benson) Joel Taylor – drums (Stanley Clarke, Allan Holdsworth, Al Di Meola, Robben Ford, Herb Alpert) Robbie Mangano – guitar (The GrandMothers Of Invention, Sean Lennon)

THE CLONE ROSES

The Heaton Park Show

The Summer of 2012 saw Manchester legends 'The Stone Roses' reform for a series of memorable shows, most noticeably 3 nights at Heaton Park in Manchester. The band then toured around the world for the rest of 2012 and then played three UK shows in 2013 in London & Glasgow. For fans who want to re-live those memorable summer nights of 2012 and 2013 there is surely only one option. The Clone Roses are the closest thing you will find to recreate the look and sound of these shows. The Clones have been gigging all over the UK for the past 15 years and to pay tribute to the Roses' comeback, they have updated their show. They have managed to acquire the same instruments and exact same clothing as The Roses recent shows and the setlist is almost identical to the Heaton Park gigs. They include all the classics in their set such as 'Waterfall' 'Made of Stone' 'This is the One' and of course 'I am the Resurrection.' Their biggest show to date was at Brixton Academy in London, supporting 'The Happy Mondays' and 'The Farm' in front of an ecstatic crowd of over 4000 people.

LOS PACAMINOS

Featuring PAUL YOUNG

Los Pacaminos got together in London in the month of November 1992, as an antidote to the bleak English winter. Originally formed as an opportunity to play their shared passion of the Border, Tex-Mex and Americana music that the members of the band love, they started as a practice band playing when other musical commitments allowed-top musicians just playing for fun. Word got around as word does and soon the band started playing gigs.

At least one member of this highly respected group will be very familiar. Los Pacaminos is fronted by one of the UK's finest and best loved vocalists - Paul Young. However, Paul is not the only luminary in this seven piece band. Some of the best musicians in the business have teamed up to present an incendiary mix of classics and original material. Paul says - "Los Pacaminos started out just for fun, playing simply for the pleasure of it, and it just took off from there. What's really nice is that everyone else in the band can sing too, and they do, all in their own different styles. It's real bar room stuff, foot stompers, not too many slow songs - a real party atmosphere."

Tex-Mex music is somewhere between the Mariachi and Norteno styles of Mexico and the Country/Blues sounds of South-West America. The band empathises with Ry Cooder, Flaco Jimenez, The Texas Tornados and Los Lobos. Mix that together with blues, rock 'n' roll and a hint of South American music and you have Los Pacaminos. Their set includes songs like 'Wooly Bully', 'La Bamba' and sometimes, if enough tequila is flowing, even 'Speedy Gonzales'.

The band members are some of the best known names in the music industry, from a variety of backgrounds. They've covered all kinds of music, but the unifying factor is that they all have played in Paul Young's bands through the 80's and 90's. Their friendships stretch back 20 to 30 years, and it's these long term connections that underpin the very special atmosphere generated at a Los Pacaminos show. Members of the audience are often invited onstage to join the guys in a slug of Tequila. You'll be in good company, so put your blues on cruise and come join the Tex-Mex party...

New Album "LOSE CONTROL" Tour 2015

In 2013 Chantel became the first female artist to be voted "Guitarist of the Year" in the history of the British Blues Awards, and in 2014 she won the award for the second time in a row!

"Chantel McGregor and a piece called Cat Song from her album Like No Other, reminds us that not only is she a very fine singer indeed, but a quite stunning guitarist. Congratulations to her on beating fierce opposition (at the British Blues Awards)" - Paul Jones, BBC Radio 2

Paul Jones has always championed Chantel, resulting in Chantel holding the record for the longest song ever played on Radio 2 (from a live session at Maida Vale) and for the longest live session in a 1 hour show (again on Radio 2)

Rocking out with her band or performing solo acoustic sets, Chantel never fails to impress. Imagine the tone and inspiration of Jimi Hendrix, the energy of Royal Blood plus the intensity of Black Keys, in contrast with the ethereal acoustic sounds of Eva Cassidy and the haunting vocal of Stevie Nicks all rolled into one... introducing Chantel McGregor, one of the UK's most exciting artists!
